From the Principal

Dear Parents

Welcome back to Term 2. It has been lovely to be able to welcome parents back onsite to more activities and was great to finally have our P&C meeting back at school.

- Chaplaincy Programs
- Belonging and Attending
- Cultural Inclusion

- Connecting with the Community – 50th Anniversary
- Student Voice
- Attendance

I will be regularly updating you about our progress through this newsletter and during P&C meetings.

Attendance

All schools have been given targets to achieve over the next few years. These targets relate to:

- Numeracy
- Reading
- Attendance
- Wellbeing

I will be keeping you up to date with how we are progressing towards these targets through this newsletter.

In attendance we have a target of 92% of students attending school for at least 90% of time.

Pre COVID-19 only 84.13% of our students attended school for at least 90% of the time. At the end of this newsletter I have included a flyer on compulsory school attendance.

It is very important that primary students develop positive patterns of school attendance. These patterns often transfer to high school.

It is very important that students arrive at school on time in order for them to begin learning at 9.00am. We recommend that students arrive at school between 8.30 and 8.50am. This allows them time to socialise with their friends before school and ensures they are at their lining up point when the bell rings.

As you can see from the information below, when students are late to school (even for 5 minutes) regularly this can greatly impact on lost learning time.

NSW Department of Education

Why attendance matters

When a child misses school they miss important opportunities to...

- Learn
- Make friends
- Build skills through fun

education.nsw.gov.au

NSW GOVERNMENT

Minutes lost = days lost per year

A couple of minutes here and there doesn't seem like much, but...

When your child misses just... they miss days per year

5 mins per day = 3 days

30 mins per day = 18 days

Patterns of lateness can have a serious impact on your child's education.

education.nsw.gov.au

Over the next few weeks teachers will be focusing on punctual school attendance.

When students are late to school, the implications are:

- They miss out on important information, lesson instructions and reminders.
- Teachers may need to interrupt the learning of other students to repeat instructions.
- Lost time is increased by needing to get a late note from the office.

If you require assistance ensuring your child arrives at school on time, please contact your child's class teacher.

Kind Regards,
Mrs Sandra McKay
Principal

ANZAC Day Service

On Thursday 22nd April we held our school ANZAC Day service.

This year we were joined by Warrant Officer Butterworth, who addressed our assembly, Warrant Officer Johnston, who played the bugle and Mrs Geeve, who laid a wreath on behalf of the community.

Having the Last Post and the Reveille played live was a very moving part of this service. As was Warrant Officer Butterworth's address. Please find this address below.

Mrs McKay, teachers, staff, students, parents, family, friends and guests, it is an honour to be asked to provide the ANZAC Day Service address at the Excelsior Public School. Thank you for asking me to come and talk to you this morning to commemorate ANZAC day, which most Australians, recognise as one of the most important days of the year.

ANZAC. Now that is an unusual word... Originally, it was not a proper word, it was a set of initials; where the initials stood for Australian and New Zealand Army Corps. In 1915, those men, together with British, Indian and French soldiers were sent to fight in the part of Turkey known as the Gallipoli Peninsula. Australians from all backgrounds served during World War I. They wore the same uniform and shared the terrible experience of war. Their story, the Anzac story, is one that unites us. Their actions forged what has become known as the ANZAC spirit and that spirit has been the driving force behind all Australian servicemen and women ever since - in France, later on in World War II, Korea, Malaysia, Borneo, Vietnam, East Timor, Iraq and Afghanistan; many of which happened long before you were born. It is also present in the peacekeeping operations our service people undertake today.

In meeting these everyday challenges, Australian Defence Force men and women embrace this ANZAC spirit. What does the ANZAC spirit mean?

Moreover, what should it mean to you? I believe it is a short word for a number of qualities which all of us, not just men and women serving in the Navy, Army and Air Force, can usefully use in our everyday lives.

The ANZAC spirit represents a sense of purpose and direction. The original ANZAC's knew what they had to do, they knew of the dangers and the difficulties, but they got down and did not let those difficulties stop them from obeying their orders. It is true that the whole campaign did not achieve what was hoped; however, the soldiers on the ground stayed until their leaders decided it was time to withdraw.

You can apply this to your everyday life. You know what work you have to do at school and what jobs your parents may have set you to do about the house. No matter what difficulties you think are in the way, think of the ANZACs and others who have followed them, and push the difficulties to one side and do accomplish your task.

Secondly, the ANZAC spirit represents an acceptance of responsibility. This quality should be applied in your everyday lives; take responsibility for everything you do. It is easy to say 'I did that' or 'that's my work' when everything goes right. We all know that sometimes things do not go right. Sometimes you may do something that is against the wishes of your parents and teachers. Remember the ANZAC spirit and take responsibility for what you are doing.

The ANZAC spirit also includes a sense of compassion. (meaning - Being kind and considerate). This part of the ANZAC Spirit is translated as mateship. This means to watch out for your mate, help him or her at all times and do not poke fun at other people at school because they may have had some misfortune, or come from a different part of the world.

Therefore, these three very simple things are what we mean when we talk about the ANZAC spirit. Another word you can apply to this same spirit is unselfishness. Now, I like every other person, hopes that Australia will never be involved in another war - and that you will never be called upon to experience such a terrible thing. However, you should use these things I have talked about - a sense of purpose; acceptance of responsibility and unselfishness, not only while you are at school, but whatever you do in your lives. If you do this, you will be keeping the faith with those who put the word

ANZAC into our language and you will be helping to make sure that the ANZAC spirit is always part of life in Australia.

There are many ways to honour people who have served the ultimate sacrifice in Australia's armed forces. We can attend school services, like this one, wake up early for a dawn service or attend an Anzac Day march. We can also honour their service by wearing a poppy or a sprig of rosemary, as a symbol of remembrance.

As the ceremony ends, you will hear a bugle play the Last Post. This piece of music was originally played in military camps to mark the end of each day and announce that all soldiers should be resting. In many memorial services, the Last Post symbolises that the duty of the dead is over and they can rest in peace. We will also observe one minute of silence after the Last Post. During this time, you might like to close your eyes and think about all the men and women who have served Australia in times of war and conflict, and about those who have died living the ANZAC spirit.

Castle Hill Girls Zone PSSA Touch Football

On Monday 16th April, Danijela, Millicent and Ishanvi formed part of the Castle Hill Girls Zone PSSA Touch Football Team, competing at the Sydney West Carnival at the Kingsway, Werrington. I also had the privilege of coaching this team on the day. The girls played a total of 11 matches throughout the day, earning outstanding victories over Zones such as St Marys, Blacktown, Penrith and Blue Mountains. The girls won a hard fought semi final, setting up an exciting grand final against Mt Druitt, with both teams being undefeated throughout the day. Castle Hill Zone won the final 4-0, with Ishanvi and Millicent scoring fantastic tries to put the game out of sight. A huge congratulations goes to Millicent for also being selected into the PSSA Sydney West Touch Football Squad for 2021.

Awesome work girls!

Compulsory School Attendance

Information for parents

Education for your child is important and regular attendance at school is essential for your child to achieve their educational best and increase their career and life options. NSW public schools work in partnership with parents to encourage and support regular attendance of children and young people. When your child attends school every day, learning becomes easier and your child will build and maintain friendships with other children.

What are my legal responsibilities?

Education in New South Wales is compulsory for all children between the ages of six years and below the minimum school leaving age. The Education Act 1990 requires that parents ensure their children of compulsory school age are enrolled at, and regularly attend school, or, are registered with the Board of Studies, Teaching and Educational Standards for homeschooling.

Once enrolled, children are required to attend school each day it is open for students.

The importance of arriving on time

Arriving at school and class on time:

- Ensures that students do not miss out on important learning activities scheduled early in the day
- Helps students learn the importance of punctuality and routine
- Give students time to greet their friends before class
- Reduces classroom disruption

Lateness is recorded as a partial absence and must be explained by parents.

What if my child has to be away from school?

On occasion, your child may need to be absent from school. Justified reasons for student absences may include:

- being sick, or having an infectious disease
- having an unavoidable medical appointment
- being required to attend a recognised religious holiday
- exceptional or urgent family circumstance (e.g. attending a funeral)

Following an absence from school you must ensure that within 7 days you provide your child's school with a verbal or written explanation for the absence. However, if the school has not received an explanation from you within 2 days, the school may contact you to discuss the absence.

Principals may decline to accept an explanation that you have provided if they do not believe the absence is in the best interest of your child. In these circumstances your child's absence would be recorded as unjustified. When this happens the principal will discuss their decision with you and the reasons why.

Principals may request medical certificates or other documentation when frequent or long term absences are explained as being due to illness. Principals may also seek parental permission to speak with medical specialists to obtain information to collaboratively develop a health care plan to support your child. If the request is denied, the principal can record the absences as unjustified.

Travel

Families are encouraged to travel during school holidays. If travel during school term is necessary, discuss this with your child's school principal. An Application for Extended Leave may need to be completed. Absences relating to travel will be marked as leave on the roll and therefore contribute to your child's total absences for the year.

In some circumstances students may be eligible to enrol in distance education for travel periods over 50 school days. This should be discussed with your child's school principal.

My child won't go to school. What should I do?

You should contact the principal as soon as possible to discuss the issue and ask for help. Strategies to help improve attendance may include a referral to the school's learning and support team or linking your child with appropriate support networks. The principal may seek further support from the Home School Liaison Program to develop an Attendance Improvement Plan.

What might happen if my child continues to have unacceptable absences?

It is important to understand that the Department of Education and Communities may be required to take further action where children of compulsory school age have recurring numbers of unexplained or unjustified absences from school.

Some of the following actions may be undertaken:

- Compulsory Schooling Conferences

You may be asked, along with your child, to attend a Compulsory Schooling Conference. The conference will help to identify the supports your child may need to have in place so they attend school regularly. The school, parents and agencies will work together to develop an agreed plan (known as Undertakings) to support your child's attendance at school.

- Application to the Children's Court – Compulsory Schooling Order

If your child's attendance at school remains unsatisfactory the Department may apply to the Children's Court for a Compulsory Schooling Order. The Children's Court magistrate may order a Compulsory Schooling Conference to be convened.

- Prosecution in the Local Court

School and Department staff remain committed to working in partnership with you to address the issues which are preventing your child's full participation at school. In circumstances where a breach of compulsory schooling orders occurs further action may be taken against a parent in the Local Court. The result of court action can be the imposition of a community service order or a fine.

What age can my child leave school?

All New South Wales students must complete Year 10 or its equivalent. After Year 10, and up until they reach 17 years of age, there are a range of flexible options for students to complete their schooling.

Working in Partnership

The Department of Education and Communities recognises that working collaboratively with students and their families is the best way to support the regular attendance of students at school.

We look forward to working in partnership with you to support your child to fulfil their life opportunities.

If a student misses as little as 8 days in a school term, by the end of primary school they'll have missed over a year of school.
